

Benevity Ask Me Anything | June 8, 2022

Ask Me Anything with Jane Moran

Jane took the (digital) stage to answer questions from the audience about Benevity's path ahead from a tech standpoint.

This conversation was out of this world as Jane took questions on the future of Goodness, her vision as CTO and our 5 year vision, tech career opportunities at Benevity and Benevity's team and tips on what we look for in talent.

Featured Panelist

Jane Moran

Chief Technology Officer, Benevity

Key Themes

- Consumers are increasingly expecting companies to take the lead on solving social issues.
- Benevity is looking for values-driven people to join our team and catalyze Goodness into the world.
- The power of the individual will shape the future of Goodness by taking small actions which collectively lead to a larger impact.
- There isn't one single way to start a career in technology and a wide range of skills will help you get started.

Key Takeaways

- When working in technology, commit to exploring tools to help scale your development.
- Lead with authenticity and allow others to demonstrate their value to the team in different ways.
- Embrace change management and the ways in which it will impact your teams more broadly.
- When working in technology, don't be afraid to embrace failure. You can't be good at something if you aren't willing to be bad at it first.
